Out of the Blue

Well, here it is the beginning of a new school year. It seems like only a short time ago we were just getting out of our Spring Semester finals or graduating from high school, when suddenly, ''Out of the Blue'' here we are starting the Fall Semester. What happened to summer? Our freedom? No homework! It's gone, so let's just face the facts now. It is time to get back into the studying mode. Readapting to sitting in desks for 50 to 75 minutes each class period we have. Of course we will also need to readjust our attention span timer. Can you believe they expect us to concentrate for 50 to 75 CONSECUTIVE minutes?!?

For the upperclassmen these adjustments are merely routine. It takes but a few days to remember how this college stuff is done. However, for the incoming freshmen, this change is often times more than a mere adjustment. Their adjustment gives more meaning to the phrase ''Out of the Blue.'' However, usually within a month or so they have made that very important adjustment and they are set for anything which is dealt their way. (Remember those days?)

So as you begin to search through this yearbook for the memorable moments of the year, remember that ''Out of the Blue'' should trigger more in your memory than just a bird flying in an azure blue sky.

Jason Norton carries Carl Mayes on his back as Robby Mack looks on. All three lived at the Days Inn during semester because the Residence Halls were overbooked.

Top: Most people think of Millikin as a campus with many building such as Shilling Hall. Above: Of course, the Big Blue wouldn't be the Big Blue if it wasn't for the charming personalities of the students such as Anne Pinneo.

The Big Blue of Millikin has a diversity of students. Jon Erickson for example represents Millikin by playing on the intercollegiate Soccer team. Each person here is an individual with their own unique talents.

Emily Dunlap and Tracy Enloe took advantage of the trip to Russia over the Winter Break. Being in Russia at such a historical time certainly warrants a picture.

Millicamp

Millicamp is a brief two day orientation get-away for all new students - freshman and transfers. This year's theme was Get it in Gear. The buses left at noon on Saturday, August 22nd and they returned at about 3:00p.m. on Sunday. The objective of the camp is to introduce new students to some of the faculty and administration and also have them meet some of the upperclassman. Most importantly, however, is to allow students a chance to get to know other people in their class and to begin making new friends. There are various activities which are conducted during the camp. Of course some activites are of a more serious nature, but part of the challenge presented to the Millicamp Counselors is to have them present the necessary material but in an entertaining way.

The campers spend time in small discussion groups just trying to get to know one another and to ask any questions which might have arose in the first few days. There is also plenty of free time scheduled and, of course, there is practice for the games played on Sunday. Saturday night was the Cabin Exchange, a dance, a Hypnotist, and then a campfire activity to end the evening. On Sunday was the church service and the games. After returning to Millikin, there was only about two hours time until the President's picnic.

Before the masses of students arrive, the counselors get their signs ready, rehearse their songs, and still have time to pose for the camera.

MILLICAMP COUNSELORS

One of the great joys of Millicamp was having to find your bags as they are being unloaded from the truck. Susan Wills appears to have made it through the crowds just fine.

''Millicamp provides a great opportunity for incoming students, both transfers and freshmen, to meet with the faculty and some of the upperclassmen. Camp allows many opportunities on both social and academic levels which will in turn help acclimate the new student with life here at Millikin.''

Recreation time is well used at Millicamp. There are Volleyball courts which are very popular, but there is also room to play with a frisbee, a football, a softball, etc.

New students are given a great deal of information during that day and a half at Millicamp. Some of that information they will use almost daily, and other times the information is irrelevant. There are some things learned at Millicamp that for some reason you can never forget - NO MATTER HOW HARD YOU TRY! Remember the counselors trying to teach the school song. Even though the words might escape your memory, the eery sound of their voices singing the song over and over and over just won't die. Then, of course, there are those songs they sang to you at lunch and dinner. Who could ever forget those. How about this line: "O.K. we'll start this small group activity by introducing ourselves. Let's give name, year in school, hometown, and also major." - HOW ORIGINAL!!!!!! There is one truly valuable lesson you learn at Millicamp that will hopefully remain with you forever - the value of friendship.

During Millicamp you are always kept moving, there isn't time to sit down and be bored. You participate in both small group activities and activities which involve the entire group as shown here. Each year they end Millicamp with a group activity - the lapsit.

"When I first heard about Millicamp, I wanted nothing to do with it. I am a transfer sophomore and have already gone through the freshmen adjustment. After talking to my parents, they convinced me to go. I'm glad they did because I met so many new people and met some upperclassmen who are business majors like me."

"As a freshman coming to college was a frightening experience. My graduating class had only 35 students so Millikin seemed large. I didn't know anyone before I came so I thougt I would be alone. By the end of Millicamp, I had more friends then I students in my graduating class."

Every year the counselors get together and plan out some sort of skit. In addition, several of the faculty and administration come for a short time and they talk to the whole group. Below, the campers listen intently to the information they are given because you never know when it will come in handy.

"Freshman Orientation was a great way for me to get to know the opportunities available at Millikin. In addition, if I had any problems during the first eight weeks, I always knew there was someone I could talk to."
- Karen Oliver

Freshman Orientation Class

In addition to the brief orientation received by those students who attend Millicamp, there is also a mandatory orientation for all new students. For freshmen it is called Freshmen Orientation but for the transfer students it is generally referred to as New Student Orientation. The eight week course is taught by professors from various departments and they are assisted by one student. The professor general directs the class, but often times the student leader can better answer questions or lead discussion because they are closer to the situation. During the class, students learn about time and stress management, techniques for choosing a major, things to expect from college, opportunities at Millikin, etc. Some professors have assignments due every week and others don't, but the only mandatory requirement is that each student needs to write a goals paper. What they want out of their years at Millikin and what they want to do after graduation will impact their courses of study.

Students have different reactions to the orientation class. Many feel that they don't benefit from the class, but once they look back to how much they have grown in those eight weeks, they generally change their opinion. Transfer students also like the class because they meet other students who are in the same situation as they are. In addition, they can discuss any problems they have in adjusting to Millikin.

Fall Family Weekend

Fall Family Weekend took place this year during the weekend of October 2nd through October 4th. It is a time for families to gather together and share their stories of live without each other for the past month and a half. Brothers, sisters, and friends of students come down with the parents to share the weekend. There are many activities which the families can participate in. Often times the parents or siblings will attend classes with the students. Also, the first major theatre production is running during the weekend. This year's production was of ''Kiss Me Kate.'' If students didn't want to go to the theatre production, University Center Board was sponsoring the movie ''Beauty and the Beast.'' Saturday morning began early with tours around campus for those who had not been on campus before. A free lunch at the Big Top was sponsored by the local churches for all students and their families. The lunch was followed by the football game against Wheaton. The greek fraternities and sororities also sponsored their own Parents' Days. That night was also another performance of ''Kiss Me Kate.'' At the same time, the RHA Teeter Totter Marathon was continuing since it stared on Friday. By Sunday the families were saying their good-byes with a few tears shed. They looked forward to seeing each other again in a few weeks for Fall Break. By Sunday afternoon it was clear that Fall Family Weekend had come to a successful close.

''Fall Family Weekend gave my parents and I a chance to catch-up on each other's lives. I am not only a freshman, but I'm also an only child. The adjustment was difficult, but after this weekend, we all feel better.''

Even siblings enjoy the weekend: ''we had to drive a long time to get here, but I miss my older sister so much. She showed me her room and we spent lots of time together. I had fun.''

One of the great pleasures of Fall Family Weekend is the thrill of taking your families to eat at the cafeteria. Don't you wish they always served that good of food?

While at the lunch at the Big Top, Laurel Posey helps paint faces on the brothers and sisters of students who came to visit their big brother or sister.

Top 5 Things Heard During FFW

1. Why doesn't the food always taste like this?
2. Can you find a parking space?
3. Free lunch before the football game? Where?
4. The bookstore is open on Saturday?
5. His parents went to class with him - MUST be a freshman!

Chairperson of Fall Family Weekend, Stephanie Strang, remarked "we felt the weekend went very smoothly and successfully. Participation had increased from prior years which was a goal we had."

During the buffet dinner on Saturday, the Singing Blue and Blue Review performed for the families.

Circles of the World

Homecoming began in the typical fashion with the Homecoming Games on Sunday, October 11, 1992. The games took place in Fairview Park. Wednesday was the next big event during Homecoming Week when the talent show occurred in the Kirkland Fine Arts Center. This was followed on Thursday with the Pep Rally and cheer contest and later on a bonfire. Friday was Coronation and recognition of the Homecoming Court. Kiersten Twait and William Shortal wer voted as this year's King and Queen. On Saturday something new began - the parade. After parading through the downtown and on Main Street, the parade stopped in the parking lot by the library. The judges were evaluating the floats on the parade route, but then they had a chance to walk around them in the lot. After defeating North park in the football game, faculty, students, and alumni were invited to the Homecoming Dance at the Decatur Civic Center.

Homecoming is not just a time for current students to show off their talents and have fun. Every year Millikin welcomes back thousands of alumni to get reaquainted with their alma mater.

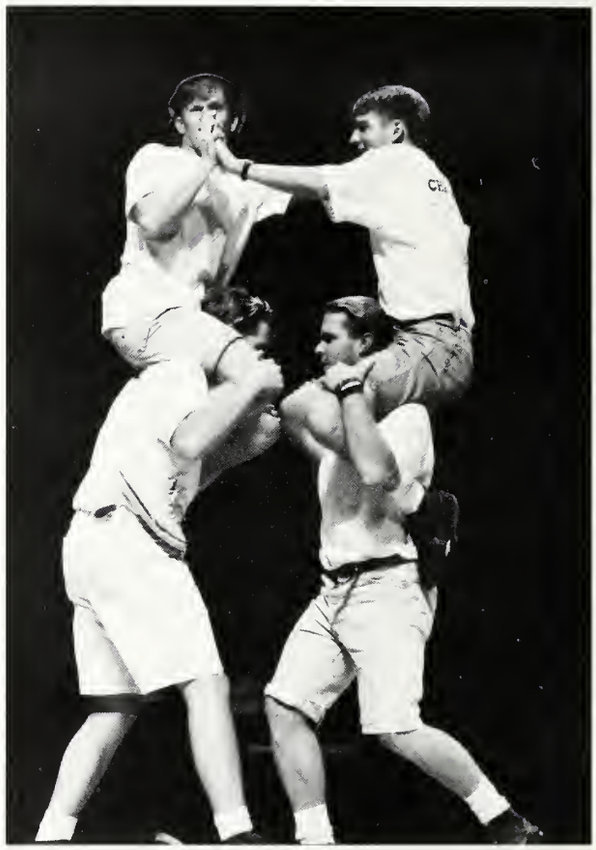
- Gary Jefferson is a senior marketing major from Barrington
- Louis Leone is a junior Business Administration major from Spring Valley

Homecoming Fun



The Homecoming talent show was an exciting time. Fellow students with extraordinary talents were performing for us to win points for their respective houses or residence halls. Top left: Jessica Wright amazed the audience with her wonderful violin playing. Her presentation was awarded first prize. Top right: If you haven't seen men trying to dance with someone on their shoulders, you haven't seen anything! Rigth: Tom Egan and Mike Hall, co-captains of the 1992 football team, addressed the audience of the Homecoming Pep Assembly about the team goals and how involved the team needs the students to be so that they can feel the support. The team went on to defeat North Park on Saturday.

As a way of bringing the Decatur community into the Homecoming festivities, this year an old tradition was reborn - the parade. Hessler Hall created this float. Students with sports cars road with the float from their hall or they used the cars to carry the members of court. The parade was a success this year and the Homecoming Committee is looking forward to keeping the parade tradition alive.

Lunch under the Big Top was a time for students and alumni to meet and for old classmates to see each other again. Grant Dawson, Mark Strathman, Andy Blanco, Chris Greene, and Dave Ferguson help to create an entertaining and relaxed atmosphere as they do their imitation of the Rockettes.

Springfest 1993

Imagine spinning without the effects of gravity. You open your eyes to find you are upside down. Students could experience this at Springfest through the Orbatron machine. This student tries it out as Brett Keller leads his team on to victory on the nearby Sand Volleyball court. When he opens his eyes that's what he sees. Bruce Halbmaier tried his hand at the velcro wall as Vice-President Joe Houston is the victim of students with a good aim at the dunking booth. Students also had a chance to listen to live music performed by various bands.

Go Bananas!

Springfest was a time for everyone to get out and have fun with their friends. Tracy Powers and Rachael Contreras both worked hard to organize this year's Springfest. They are pictured above selling t-shirts in the UCB hut. Another victim for the dunking booth was the Dean of Students Jan Devore. Everyone had a great time.

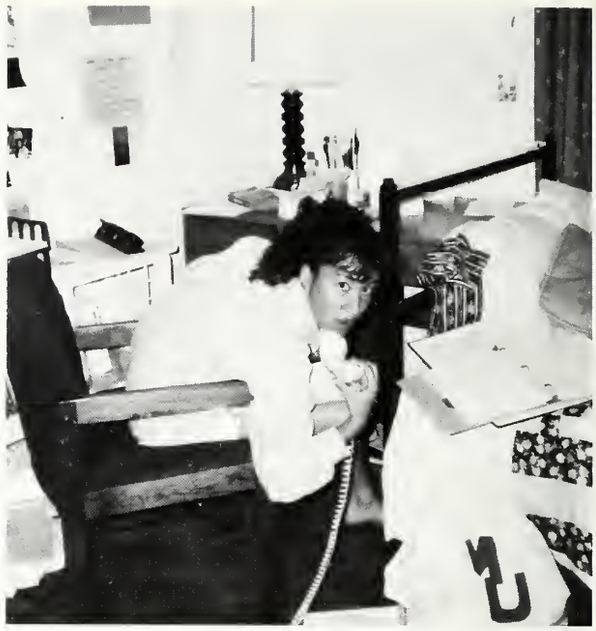
People always want to feel needed and a part of the group. Sometimes it comes down to asking someone if they like something about you. Corey Winicour,Charlie Harper, and Al Cook ask the women of Walker if they like their boxers. What do you think?



Being an RA and a student can put a strain on your time. Jennifer Currenee is caught by surprise by one of her residents at the Days Inn during one of her not-so-organized moments.

As everyone knows, studying is not everything - especially on the weekends. Being with friends is an important part of campus life. Elizabeth Stevens, Anne Pinneo, Joe Armstrong, and Andrea Paulsen find time to pose for the camera.

After the residence halls were overbooked, about 50 students were moved into the Days Inn. Beeause they were off campus, and without cars, they spent their weekends (and weeknights) just getting to know each other better.

Imagine this, it is Friday night and your parents call to tell you that they will be down to see you tomorrow at 11:00 a.m. You forgot they were coming down! Of course you would spend an hour or so cleaning your room so that when your mom walked in she would say, "I always knew I taught you right." You wonder - does she realize I only cleaned because they're coming or not?

Wouldn't it be unfortunate if mom and dad showed up without calling to remind you and had to see what your room looked like every day?

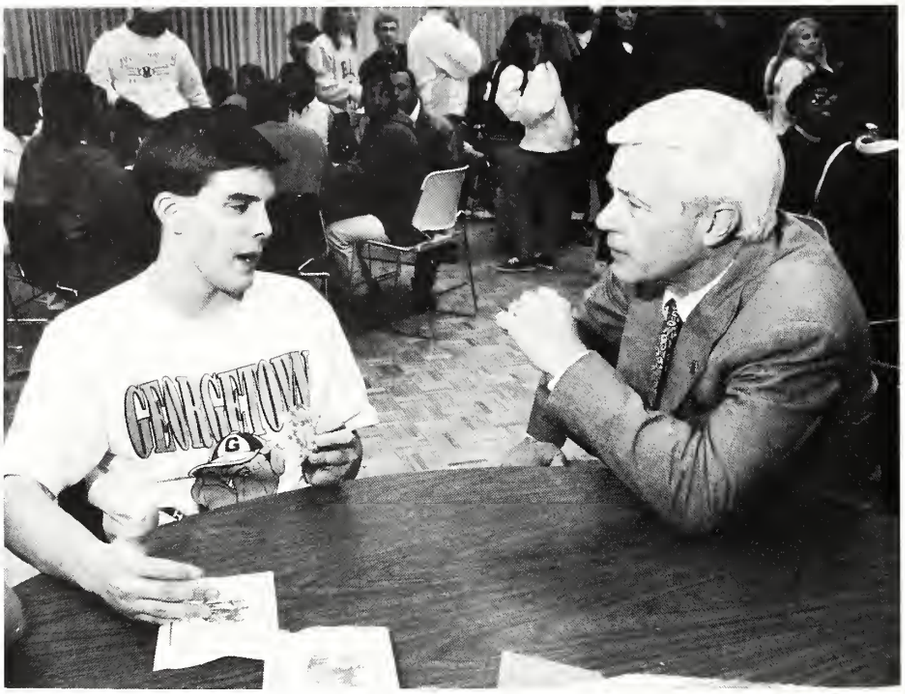
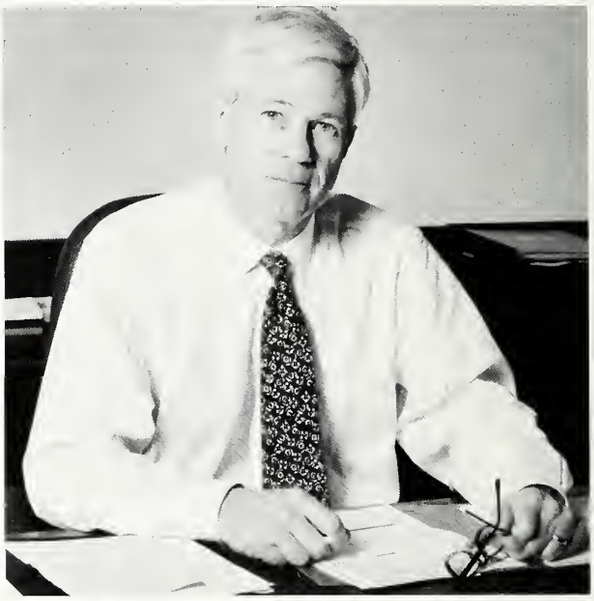
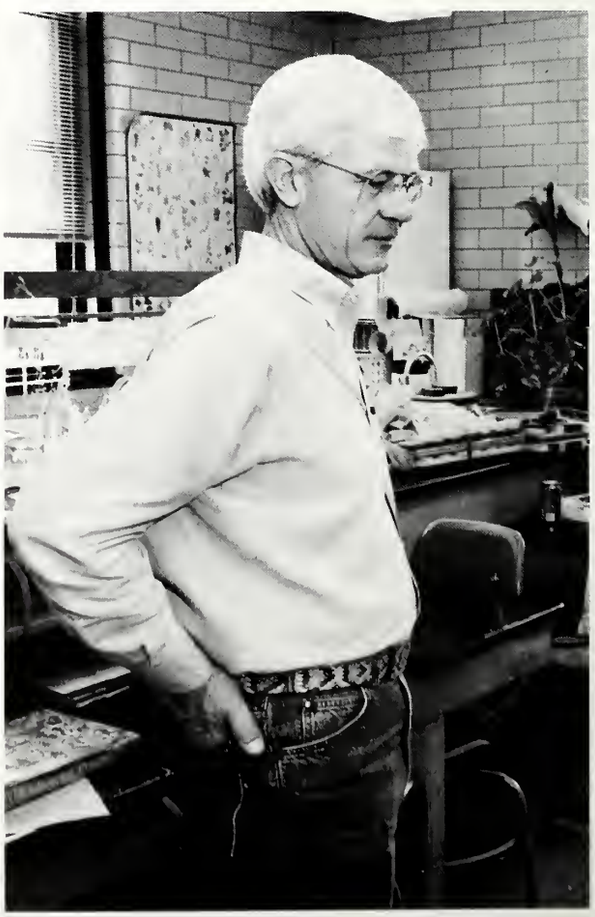
FACULTY

President Curtis McCray







President Curtis McCray brings to Millikin not only the knowledge and skills necessary for a president, but also a willingness to learn from everyone around him - staff, students, faculty, and administrators. For example, he attended a pizza party sponsored by RHA (pictured above) for students to get to know the president. In addition, he participated in "Switch-a-Day" in which a selected student changes places with the president for a half-day. President McCray attended the student's classes and even went to work for him. President McCray is approaching the job with high expectations, and after only a few short months, he has shown others how his great visions will lead this university to an even higher level.

President John Miltner

Dr. Miltner served as Millikin's president until September 8, 1992, when he died of a form of skin cancer. In life he touched many, and in death he created a void that will never be completely filled. Dr. Miltner established plans to take Millikin into the 21st Century. His expectations and dreams of what Millikin is and what it can become have set precedence for all future Millikin presidents.

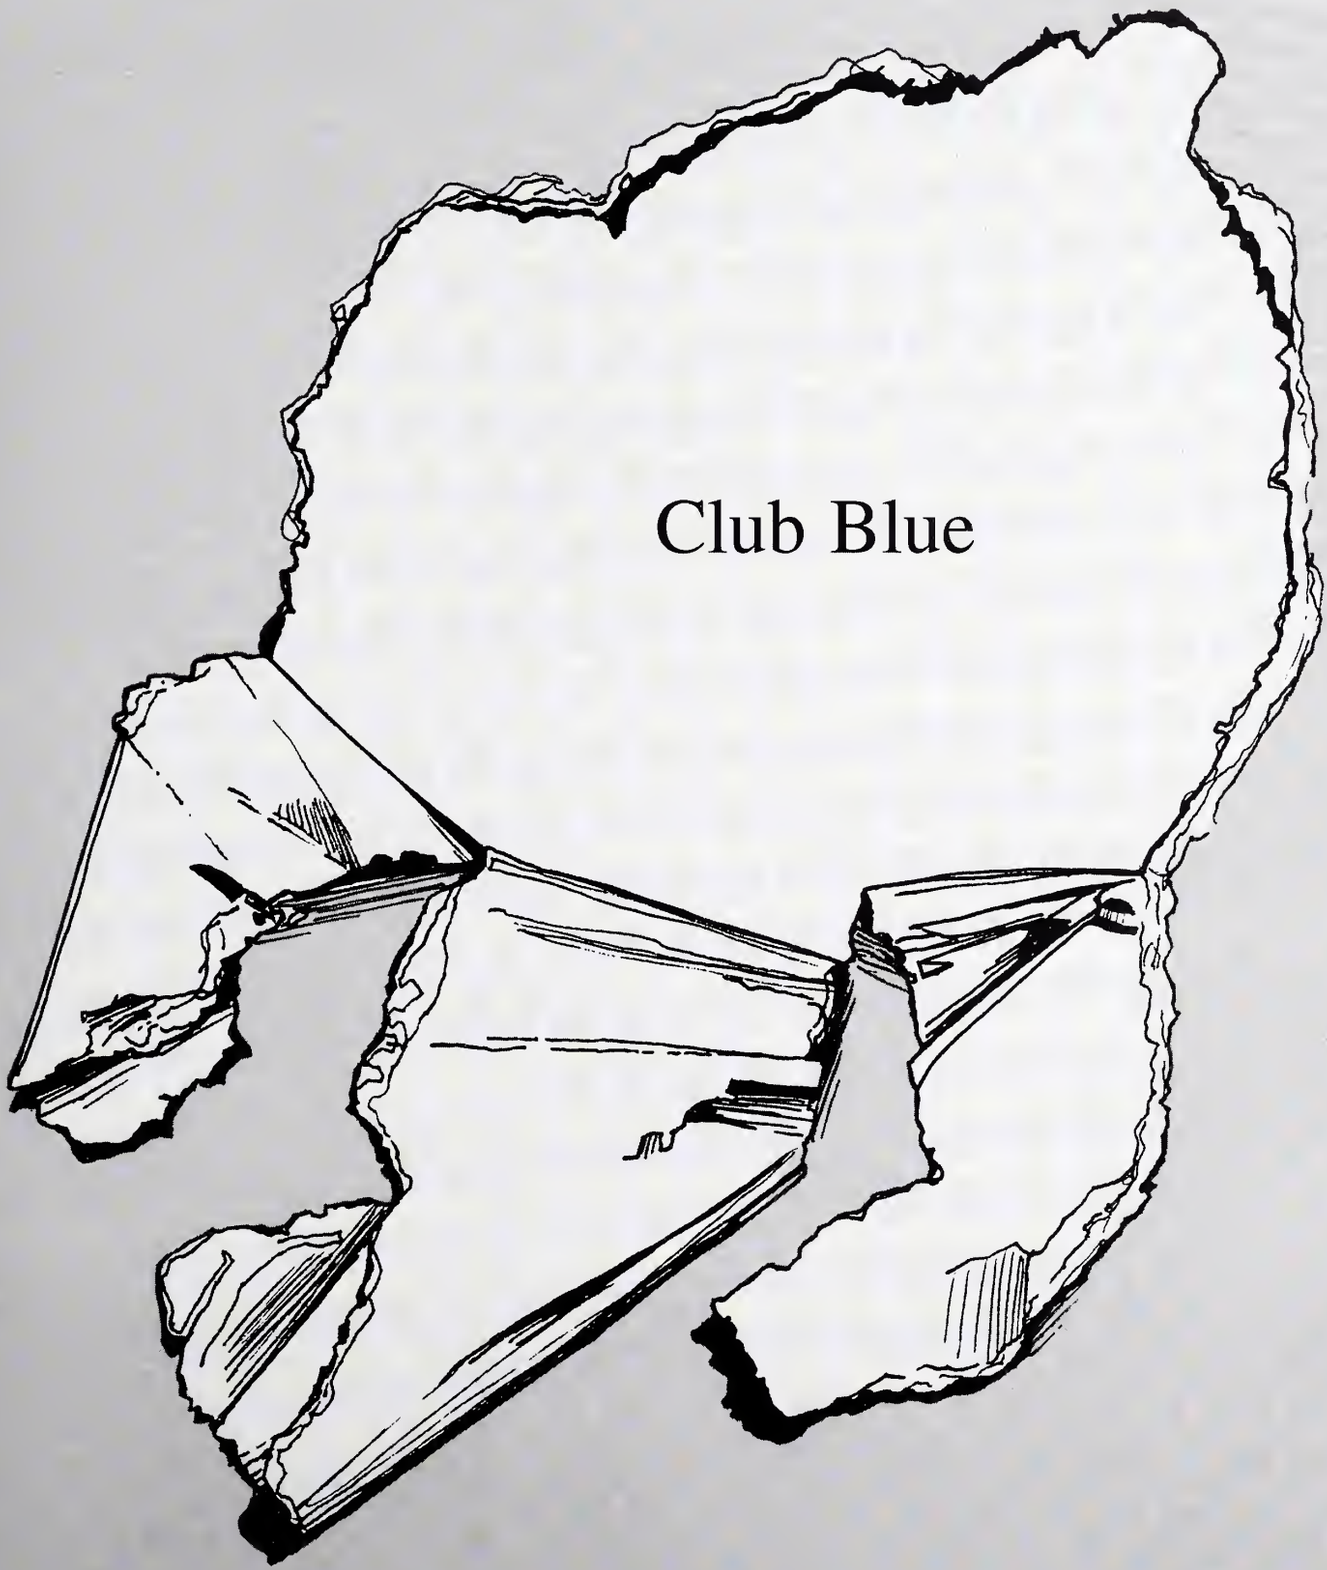
''Miltner's death touched me even though I'm only a freshman. I could see how close he had been with the upperclassmen and how much he would be missed.'' Amanda Vick

''For the small amount of time Miltner was here, I felt that he was caring and compassionate towards the students.'' Jenny Kopinski

''The campus community was positively changed through Miltner's work at Millikin.'' Kristen Levey

''The president's death hit the campus hard. I don't think that anyone could say they weren't affected by Miltner.'' Greta Miller

ORGANIZATIONS



Student Senate

(L TO R)ROW 1: Katie Williams, Stacie Bell, Rewa Smith, Joe Pottala, Michelle Stremmel, John Kruep, Mike Barham, Chris Kopinski. Student Senate was very productive in 1992. After successfully providing for the Booksale at the beginning of the semester, they allocated funds to various student organizations such as Bacchus, Behavioral Science Club, Alpha Phi Omega, and the Gay and Lesbian Association. They also elected students to specialized committees such as the Orientation Commision, the James Millikin Scholars Committee, and the Bookstore Advisory Committee. Moreover, the positions of Minority Students Representative and International Students Representative were created to better represent Millikin's increasingly diverse, multi-cultural campus.

In addition, the Senate also sponsored a Senate Awareness Week from November 16th to the 23rd and the Senate members wore "SENATE. SO BE IT" t-shirts to proudly identify themsleves as student representatives.

Black Emphasis Association

Black Emphasis Association was established to promote unity and understanding between the community, the faculty, and the administration of Millikin. The purpose of this group is to continue bridging the gap between the black and non-black students on campus. Understanding, awareness, and sensitivity to cultural diversity are promoted through education and observance of African-American holidays. Activities for the year include the African-American Experience class, the sixth annual Gospel Inspirational, pajama jamy-jams, and a ''haunted'' house. The finale was a civil rights march designed to bring Millikin's student body, faculty, and administration together with the Decatur community.

International Students Association

The International Students Association is a new organization on campus formed during the 1992-93 academic year. The Association hopes to act as a liaison between international students at Millikin and the administration; it also hopes to promote international understanding and cultural awareness among the foreign and local students through various activities. The Association hopes to get involved on campus by helping in the orientation and adjustment process of all international students and also through the sponsoring of multi-national and cultural events. Early on in the spring semester this year the Association sponsored a very successful International Night in conjunction with Diversity Week featuring international cuisine and cultural performances.

The National Student Nurses Associatio is the only national organization for nursing students and it is the largest independent professional student organizatior in the United States. The purpose of NSNA i to assume the responsibility of contributing t nursing education in order to provide the highest quality of health care; to provide programs that represent the fundamental and current professional interests and concerns; and to aid in the development of the whole person. NSNA participates in a wide variety of activities which include political, educational, and service events.

Data Processing Management Assoc.

Data Processing Management Association is a professional organization for MIS and CS majors, or for anyone with a concentration in either area. While Millikin's chapter is small, it has been very strong and productive. Throughout the year, DPMA conducts seminars on different aspects of Millikin's network, including WordPerfect, Paradox, and Quattro Pro; and personal tutoring is also available. Not all work, DPMA members take time to go to the movies, play miniature golf, and go out for dinner. It is DPMA's goal to help its members develop their leadership, communication, and computer skills while having a fun time.

Institute of Management Accountants

The Millikin Chapter of the Institute of Management Accountants was organized in the fall of 1985. The chapter started out eith 89 charter members and has been able to maintain a membership level of between 80-90 students. IMA is open to all students. The organization offers a variety of programming to its members including professional, social, and service events. Educational meetings consists of monthly business meetings on various business topics and company tours. Some recent tours have included: Anheuser Busch in St. Louis and Diamond Star Motors in Bloomington. Social events include: Cardinal baseball games, bowling, pizza parties, cook-outs, and miniature golf. Finally, service projects in the past have included: Volunteer Income Tax Asssitance Program and United Way.

University Center Board is the life of Richard Treats University Center carrying out its activity program. UCB also serves as the student financial programming agent for the university. Involvement with UCB provides a great way to meet new friends, have fun, and at the same time provide valuable leadership training.

UCB is a group of students who are responsible for the activities, performances, dances, bands, trips, concerts, films, lectures and other type of activities that provide entertainment for the University community. UCB is governed by an Executive Committee comprised of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and seven committtee chairpeople. UCB is primarily made up of seven committees that are as follows: entertainment, films, recreation, travel, special events, current issues, and publicity. UCB activities include appearences by comedians, hypnotists, dancers; screening of hit movies; all campus ice skating, miniature golf, billiards and euchre tournies; trips to Six Flags, weekend shopping trips during the Christmas season, a Spring Break trip; events such as LSB night, exam breaks, tailgating, an annual Beach Party; and lectures and programs that raise awareness on current concerns.

InterVarsity Christian Fellowship

InterVarsity Christian Fellowship is a group of students who have come to know Jesus Christ as their personal savior and are committed to serving Him as Lord. Members come from many church backgrounds but are united by their faith to build a collegiate fellowship that engages the campus in all its ethnic diversity with the good news of Jesus Christ, and to develop disciples with biblical values and leadership abilities.

IVCF meets daily for prayer meetings, weekly for small group Bible studies and large group meetings, as well as periodic weekend events and occasional social functions. IVCF strives to follow in the steps of Jesus Christ in worship, fellowship, and growth as disciples in order to glorify His name.

Millikin University's Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an organization that consists primarily of male and female athletes along with all of Millikin's coaches. The group holds regular meetings every Wednesday night in Griswold Center to discuss a wide range of topics. The subjects discussed range from college campus morals, abortion, and euthanasia to the presidential election, and censorship. Christian ethics and how Christians should deal with these topics was also a point of focus. Office positions in FCA include the President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and group assistants.

Sigma Zeta, Pi Chapter, has a two fold purpose: to encourage and foster attainment of knowledge of the sciences, and to recognize the attainment of high scholarship among those who qualify for membership in the society. Sigma Zeta is open to any Millikin student majoring in the natural sciences or mathematics with a grade point average of 3.2 in the natural sciences and 3.0 overall.

Sigma Zeta helps foster knowledge of the sciences by sending students to the National Convention each year to give them an opportunity to present research papers of their own. The society also organizes local science fairs, recycling drives, field trips, and lectures about science at Millikin.

American Chemical Society

Membership in the American Chemical Society is open to anyone majoring in chemistry or related fields. The ACS provides an opportunity for chemistry students to maintain a professional pride in the chemical sciences. ACS holds monthly meetings featuring student speakers and representatives from local industries and graduate schools. We also have opportunities for informal socializing through our parties and end-of-year picnic. This year we began a mentoring program in which our members work with students and teachers in the Decatur public schools to present science in unique and informative ways.

Millikin Communication Organization

Millikin Communication Organization was formed in March 1983 to provide the student body of Millikin with outside information and presentations which promote communication as an academic discipline and professional pursuit. The organization holds monthly meetings featuring workshops, forums, and speakers from area businesses related to the communication field. Through these meetings, the organization strives to provide practical communication advice for both majors and non-majors.

WJMU first began broadcasting from the Liberal Arts Hall on March 10, 1971 with only enough power to be heard across campus. Today with new studios at 151 N. Fairview, Millikin's own campus station has grown and can now be heard throughout Decatur and Macon County. WJMU offers programming not found at any other station in town. It offers not only alternative forms of music, but exclusive coverage of Big Blue football, basketball, baseball, and softball. WJMU provides all students and faculty the opportunity to have their own radio show which will allow them to gain actual experience in the field of broadcasting. Besides on-air chances the station offers personal experience in programming, promotions, news writing, sports play by play, and much more.

Behavioral Science Club

Behavioral Science Club is an organization open to Psychology, Sociology, and majors of other related fields. The club introduces different branches of the behavioral sciences field through speakers, field trips, and social activities. BSC's main activities consists of community work service programs such as DOVE, Big Brother/Big Sister, and other Decatur service organizations; on site visits to the Dream Lab, graduate schools, and speakers on various issues related to the field. BSC is currently working towards becoming a Psi Chi Honorary.

Millikin Scholastic Society

Millikin Scholastic Society is an organization for students who have above a 3.2 G.P.A. It was founded several years ago for JMS students only. When the group membership dropped, the organization was opened to all students who qualified. For the past couple of years the group disappeared, but last year it was started again. The group participates in both academic and social activities. MSS worked on several different speakers for this year along with social activities. Last year the group had a Christmas party and a get-together during the final exam week. There were monthly meetings where we started redefining our purpose and redirecting the group.

Into The Streets is a coalition designed to increase students' awareness of community service and challenge them to a lifelong dedication of helping others. ITS gets its juice from the spirit and energy of its volunteers, who go ''into the streets'' of Decatur to help with homelessness/hunger, campus safety, education/literacy, children/ youth, tutoring, senior citizens, drug/alcohol, and environment. The on-going goal of ITS is to strenghten student capacities to help solve the problems we face as a society. ITS doesn't ask for dues or a contract; all it needs is volunteers who are committed to donate their time to help people in need.

Residence Hall Association is an organization which encourages unity and friendship among the residents of the halls. RHA does this by sponsoring programs and fund-raisers in which all students can participate. This years activities included the Teeter Totter Marathon, a Welcoming Bash, and a moving crew which helped students to feel more comfortable with their living arrangements.

RHA Week had an ice cream social, a basketball competition, and a lip sync contest. This allowed residents to become acquainted. Futher activities included blood drives, Campus Crime Awareness, and Alcohol Awareness Week. The various halls also have floor activities, which attempt to bring residents on the same floor closer.

RHA also provides workshops and conferences to help members build leadership traits. These include a Great Lakes Conference as well as a national conference where Millikin can tell other colleges what we are doing on our campus.

The Resident Assistants are the people who make our lives in the halls a more comfortable. They are the ones who are there to help us out when we are in need and who straighten us when we twist and turn about the hall rules.

Hessler 2

Having 36 residents, each with a unique personality and lifestyle has been an awesome experience. Our October hall Program--The Dating Game--really brought some people out of their quietshells. One contestant, when asked in the spirit of Homecoming's theme what foreign food she would be and why answered, ''Spaghetti, because it's hot and spicy and you slurp it up''. Well, no more shyness here! Hessler 2 has also exhibited a wide range of musical tastes, from Aerosmith to the Supremes, from Erasure to the Indigo Girls, and even Garth Brooks. Everyone respects one another's taste and refrains from blaring their tunes too loudly.

Carol is one of five auxilary housing units. There are eight separate apartments with no common area in the building. Each apartment has two rooms; the living room with kitchen area, and the bedroom with a private bathroom! Carol is on campus living with all the amenities and security, but it gives you the freedom of off-campus living at the same time.

Walker 2

Walker 2 is both exciting and eventful. The women all get along well, and there is always something going on because we are so creative when it comes to finding fun. We will never forget watching Kim Collins and Melanie Knox compete in a somersault race down the hall. Some of us have even played frisbee in the pouring rain at 1:30 in the morning. Most of our good group discussions have occured in the bathroom. We never tell anyone when we are going to take a shower, for two unnamed bandits might attack with a bowl of cold water. The bad thing about Walker 2 is being in the shower when someone forgets to yell ''SHOWER!'' before flushing. All in all, Walker 2 is a happening place to be!

Aston 1: ''Beach Dodge-ball anyone?'' Sounds like a good time! Ring for me baby. HA! HA! No cockroaches here! Ah, Decatur--Pride of the Prairie! Just for the smell of it! Full moon view. Many strong and beautiful women. Chocolate anyone? Who sat on the ironing board...?! Exams? What exams? We don't need no exams! Go girl! Hey Amy, guess what? I'm locked out of my room (again). Man on top! Build a little bird house in your soul. Decatur water, mmm! Quiet hours? No one here knows what that is!

Mills 1 West

When it comes down to dorm floors, Mills 1 West wears the crown. When it comes to bubs, we throw 'em down. Mess with Mills 1 West, you shall get cracked. Leave your girl behind, and her beave will get smacked. We get gas from the cafeteria plate we ate, then we hit the can and drop some bait. We're the best, and you may wonder why. Step to us, and we'll cold bust you in the eye. Bottom line: Mills 1 West is the bub drinking, shrub smacking, grub eating, bait dropping, smooth dogging floor of the year.

Days Inn

On a warm August day, they filed in with an expression of contempment realizing their misfortune(or what seemed to be at that time) of living in a hotel. Within a couple of weeks we became a family along with the women's floor. Playing football in the cornfield, Nintendo running 24 hours in somebody's room, all of the pornographic pictures the maids had to look at, all of the times the maids didn't clean our bathrooms, all the time we made fun of...well, you remember, when the phones got shut off and you didn't know it was going to happen, and just sitting around having a good time, like a family should. We were dispersed in January, but we will reunite only to laugh a lot more.

Kiss Me Kate

''Kiss Me Kate'' was the first major theatrical production of the 1992-93 season. It debuted during Fall Family Weekend. ''Kiss Me Kate'' is a Broadway musical, a comedy, that is based on ''Taming of the Shrew'' by William Shakespeare. Lilli Vanessi and Fred Graham are a divorced couple who are cast as Katharine and her suitor Petruchio. Dawn Doverspike and Brendan McNab play these two main characters. Lilli and Fred are people in the 1950s who are cast in a local production of the ''Taming of the Shrew.'' ''Kiss Me Kate'' is then the story of these two characters as they play Katharine and Petruchio in the play. For this reason, ''Kiss Me Kate'' is considered a play within a play. The musical portions of the musical really enhanced the production. Some of the more famous musical numbers include ''Always True to You Darling in my Fashion,'' ''Too Darn Hot,'' ''Wunderbar,'' and ''So in Love.''

6 RMS RIV VU

''6 RMS RIV VU'' was a dinner theater production. The title is shorthand for an apartment with six rooms and a river view. The comedy is a reflection of the 1970s as was obvious with once glance at the costumes (pantsuits, checkered patterns, and sideburns). The story line is one of a man and woman (Paul and Anne) who meet while they are looking for an apartment for their spouses. After the door knob breaks, they are stranded together. The audience soon learns that these two characters have more in common with each other than they do with their spouses. The main question throughout is should they or shouldn't they have an affair. Robert Genardo and Jacqui Noble play the leads while Heather Corwin and Scot Yonan play their respective spouses. The production was very successful.

Macbeth

William Shakespeare's ''Macbeth'' presented numerous challenges for the theatre department. The interpretation of Shakespeare is vast and it is up to the actor/actress to determine how he/she will play the role. ''Macbeth'' is about a character, Macbeth, who plans on becoming the next King. After it becomes unlikely he will be chosen, Macbeth resorts to evil doings in an attempt to sway events in his favor. Unfortunately for him, he reaches a point where he can no longer tell whether his actions are evil or not. The person behind his evil actions, encouraging him all the way, is the power-hungry Lady Macbeth. The play also features the famous three witches. Brendan McNab and Kay Ayers played the lead roles of Macbeth and Lady Macbeth. Despite the challenges, the actors and actresses performed brillantly.

Company

''Company'' uses a very common problem for both men and women as its basic story line. In the production, Robert, played by Joe Machota, is a bachelor trying to decide whether or not to get married, and if so, to whom. It is a definite comedy. Harry and Sarah are a recovering alcoholic and chocoholic; Peter and Susan are getting a divorce; Paul and Amy get cold feet on their wedding day; and Larry, who is Joanne's third husband. To add to Robert's confusion on life and marriage, Marta, Kathy, and April are three blonde friends of his.

The production took place in Albert Taylor Theatre which caused some minor problems, but they were overcome nicely. The main difficulty was that the orchestra was in the balcony, making it hard for the actors and actresses to be heard. Otherwise, the entire production was nicely done.

The Rimers of Eldritch

''The Rimers of Eldritch'' is a murder mystery which poses many questions to the audience including who committed the act and why was the murder committed. The play actually occurs out of chronological order. As it begins, the accused murderer is on trial. It isn't until the very end of the play that the murder is shown. The play's setting is in a small Midwestern town which formerly was a coal mining town. Once the coal had been stripped from the land, there was nothing left in the town but sad townspeople. Some of those townspeople who are highlighted in the play include the town gossips, scandalous lovers, discontented teenagers, the village scapegoat, and a visiting vagabond.

Sunday in the Park with George

''Sunday in the Park with George'' was a combined effort of Millikin's theatre department and the Millikin Decatur Symphony Orchestra. The musical opens with the French painter George Seurat creating a 1884 masterpiece. This masterpiece becomes the backdrop for most of the first act. At different times throughout the first act, part of the painting is brought to life. Special effects were a major part of this including lasers, light shows, smoke, and various other techniques. One of the most amazing parts of the musical is that the actors and actresses have to play two different people, one in the first act, and the other in the second act. In most cases these two characters have nothing in common. The actors and actresses performed brilliantly to bring out the unique personalities of all the characters. The second act is based on the life and times of Seurat's grandson who is also a stuggling artist.

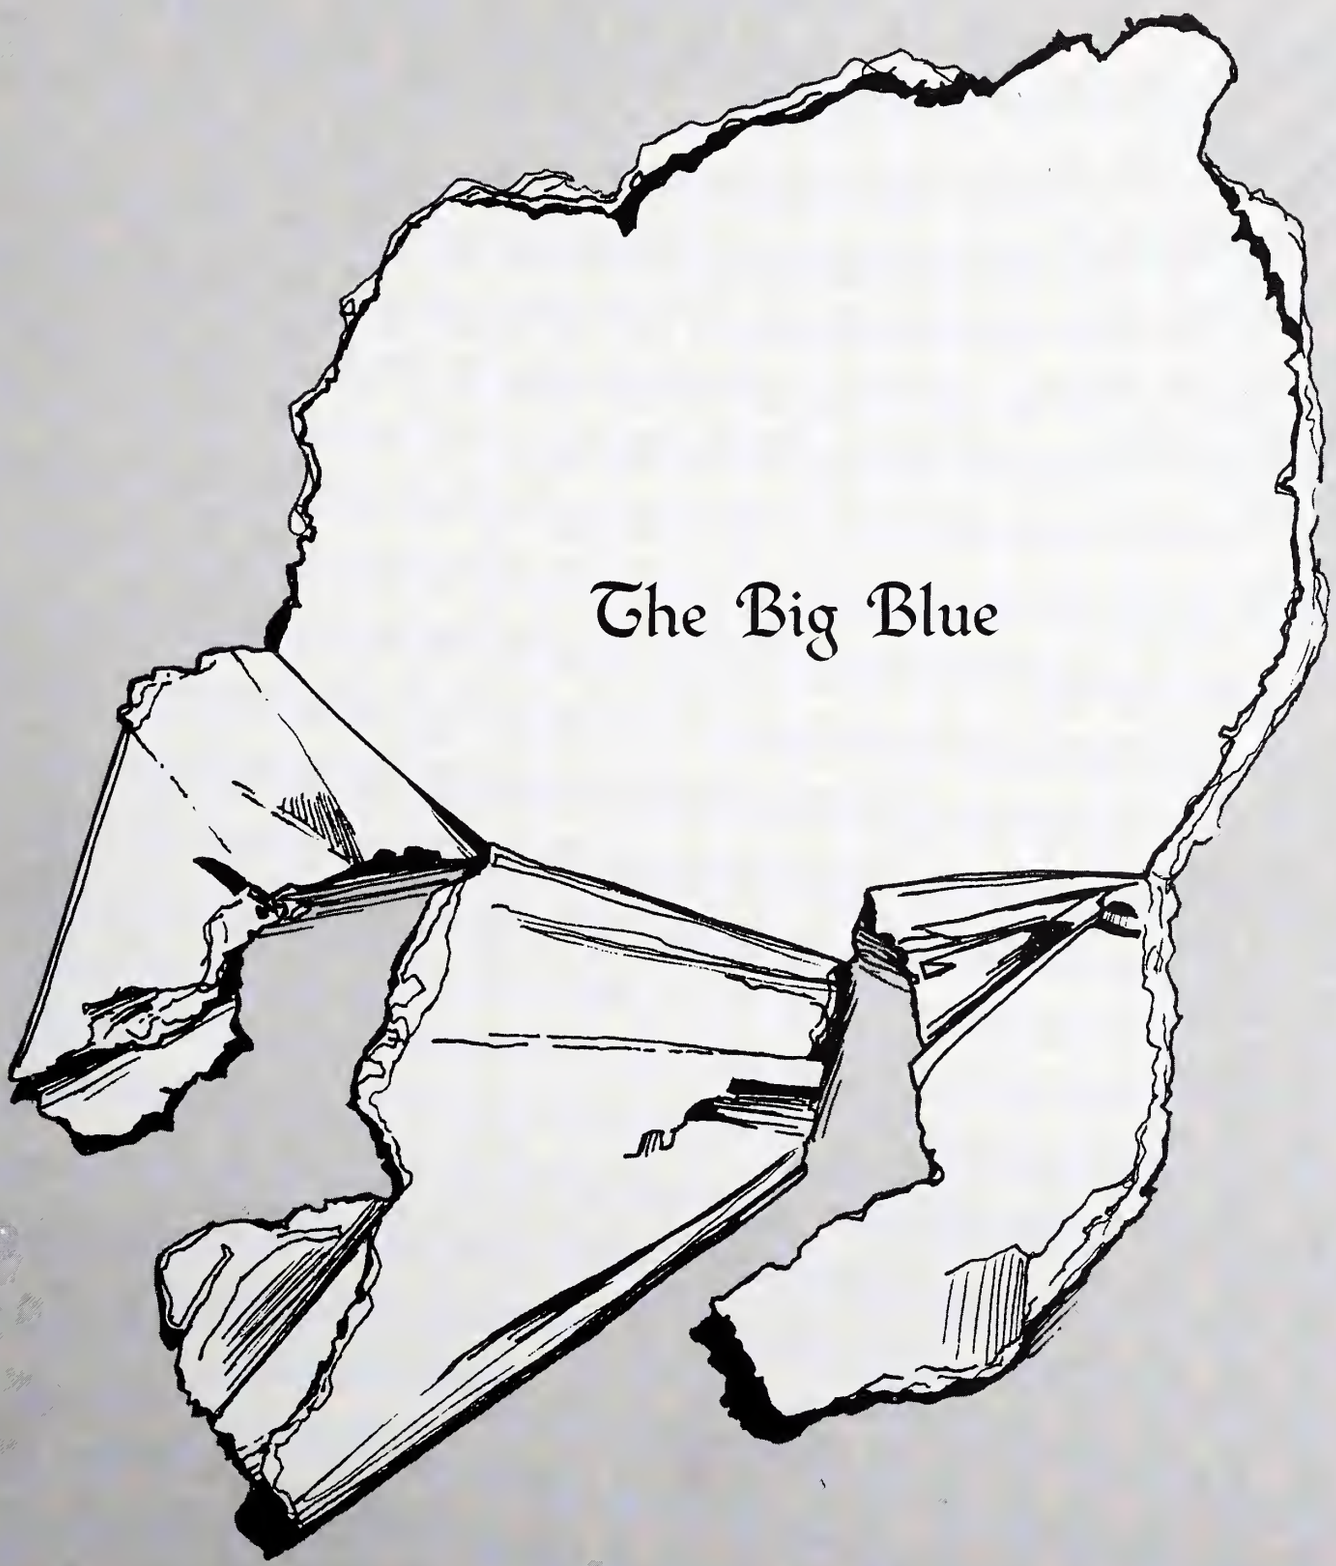
ALPHA PSI OMEGA is a honorary fraternity designed to benefit students of high merit in the dramatic arts. There are 30 members, ranging from sophomores to seniors. Alpha Psi Omega provides activities in the creative arts for the entire Millikin campus with activites such as Improv Night, in which students get together and perform simply for entertainment. The society helps sponsor scholarships for outstanding services in the dramatic arts and also paticipates in community services such as Into the Streets. They also sell the refreshments at several of the theatrical productions.

ATHLETICS



Out of the Old-Into the Blue

Even though the final record did not end up with more wins than losses, the Big Blue football team was a team of winners. It was obvious to anyone who witnessed any of the team's heartbreaking losses that the only missing ingredient from the talented squad, was much needed experience. The team never suffered from a lack of effort or desire. Most of their losses were games that could have gone either way, but the lack of team experience cost them towards the end of games.

This year the team gave everything they had against more talented and experienced teams, and the only place they came up short was on the scoreboard. The desire to win was always there, and that was never more apparent than in the final game of the season. Trailing 28-27 with less than 2 minutes to play, the offense displayed their never say die attitude: quarterback Brian Ganser drove the Big Blue the length of the field and in for the score to take the lead with just under one minute remaining. The game was left to the defense who came through with four huge defensive stops. The game was over, and while the team enjoyed the victory to end the season, the seniors enjoyed more as the ended their college football careers.

After losing several key starters from last year's squad due to graduation, the Big Blue knew it would be a difficult year. The seniors were the leaders and their jobs was not an easy task. They had to hold together a very young and inexperienced team. That job is hard enough but to have to do it under the conditions of a losing season is even more difficult. The final victory gave the Blue hope for next season. They will once again be losing some key players but those players will be leaving behind a talented team who now have the knowledge and experience they lacked this year.

"We have several good football players back, plus we have a lot of young guys who will have the chance to step in there and see what they can do."
Coach Poelker

CCIW First Team-
Mike Hall, Mark Ambrose, Shane Crandall, Tom Egan
CCIW Second Team-
Steve Thompson, Kevin Anderson
CCIW Honorable Mention-
Dave Peabody

The year's Junior Varsity team worked hard and challenged those on the Varsity squad to be the best they could. It is these players who hope to step up next year into the vacancies left by graduating seniors.

Senior Mike Hall was one of the leaders on the team this year. He and Tom Egan shared the responsibilities of team captain this season. Hall displayed his talents in various ways, above he is leading the Big Blue Offense on the the field.

Spiking Blues

What began as a very optimistic season for this young yet experienced Volleyball team turned into an average season filled with disappointments. After losing several starters from last season, the Volleyball team knew they had some big shoes to fill. The freshmen and sophomores were ready to take their shot at earning a starting spot on the team. Freshman Amber Crowder played exceptionally well as the setter and a great all-around player. Amber received special recognition for her efforts throughout the season and in the conference tournament as she was named to the all-tournament team. Tara Fisher was also a very important member of the team as she tried to replace Kim Halusan as the middle blocker. Laura Tolone and Susan Smith were also key players.

After starting the season with a 3-game winning streak, the team suddenly found themselves hovering around the 50% mark. It appeared as if they just couldn't pull everything together and keep it together for an entire match. They would play one outstanding game and then lose the next one due to some mental mistakes. The players agree that with only losing one player to graduation, the team looks promising for next year. Team play takes many hours of practice and simply getting to know the play of other teammates which simply takes time. Things look bright for the Volleyball teams of the near future.

With a new first year coach, the soccer team knew the 1992 season would be filled with numerous challenges and obstacles which would have to be overcome. Sophomore Kurt Taute would be one constant for the team though. After setting the school record for 13 goals and 29 points in a season as a freshman, his expectations were even higher for this season. Their schedule was not a very easy one either as they played three of the NCAA Division III's top teams including Fontbonne, Wheaton, and 1991 national quarterfinalist MacMurray. By the time the season ended, the team found themselves in third place in the CCIW with a 3-2 conference record and a 7-10 record overall. This was an improvement over the fifth place finish in the CCIW last year and a 5-14 overall record. Kurt Taute broke both of his records he set last season with 15 goals and 35 points this season. One of the highlights of the season was their five game winning streak which occurred after opening the season with a three game losing streak. The team will lose four seniors to graduation next season but they look forward to the underclassmen to step up and fill the roles of those who are leaving.

"It's a matter of our players building and maintaining confidence. That's our biggest challenge. We've set some pretty high goals and we need to be confident and aggressive to reach those goals." Jimmi Brookhart

Senior Frank Costabile manuevers around a defender on his way toward the goal. His teammate anxiously awaits to see if Frank will pass off to him.

Running the Blues Away

Coach Don Luy began the season with high hopes of improvement for both the men's and women's cross country teams. By the end of the season, the teams proved that the coach's expectations were not unfounded.

Both the men and the women had their top runner returning from the previous year. Dave Grabske and Eliza Nyman had both the talent and the leadership abilities to help guide their young teammates. Coach Luy knew that the incoming freshmen for both teams would play key roles in the performance of the teams. Despite the young age of both teams, the members worked together and excelled.

Part way through the season, the teams went through a rough time. Illnesses affected both teams and in one instance, the women could not field an entire team for a meet. Despite illnesses and injuries, the teams managed to pull back together and they finished strong. The men finished fourth in the CCIW and the women finished sixth.

Lady Blue Spirit

The 1992 women's tennis team was led by Coach Leonard McNeely (known as Coach Mac) and co-captains (senior) Niccole Biggs and (junior) April Martin. Niccole, the only senior on the team, said farewell at the end of the season, however, her name will be remembered in the MU women's tennis records. She placed third in overall career singles wins and she tied for fourth place in career doubles wins. Niccole summed up her last season by stating, ''despite the team's loses this year, we all stuck together and bonded in high spirits. This is one of the closest teams that I've been a part of.'' Niccole, who played number 2 singles will certainly miss her doubles partner Allison Baker who took center stage to play number 1 singles.

Niccole and Allison played number 1 doubles, Amy Chowaniak and Ellen Leppard played number 2, and freshman Serena Weiss played with Jeanna Koetters and April Martin at the number 3 doubles spot. The singles line-up was as follows:

#1 Allison Baker
#2 Niccole Biggs
#3 Amy Chowaniak
#4 Ellen Leppard
#5 Jeanna Koetters
#6 April Martin

Most Valuable Player -

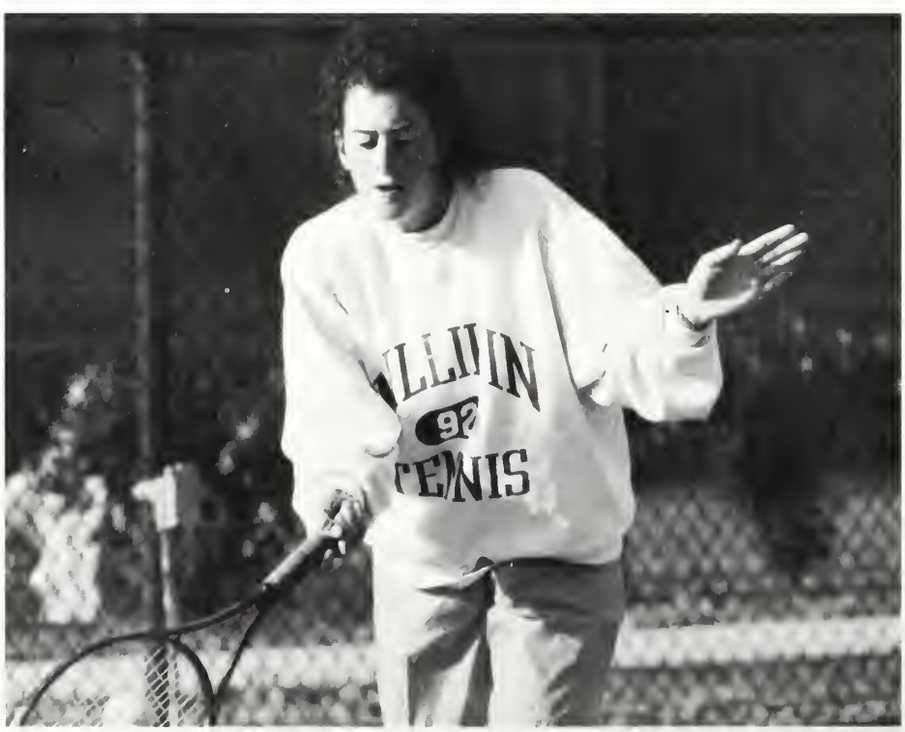
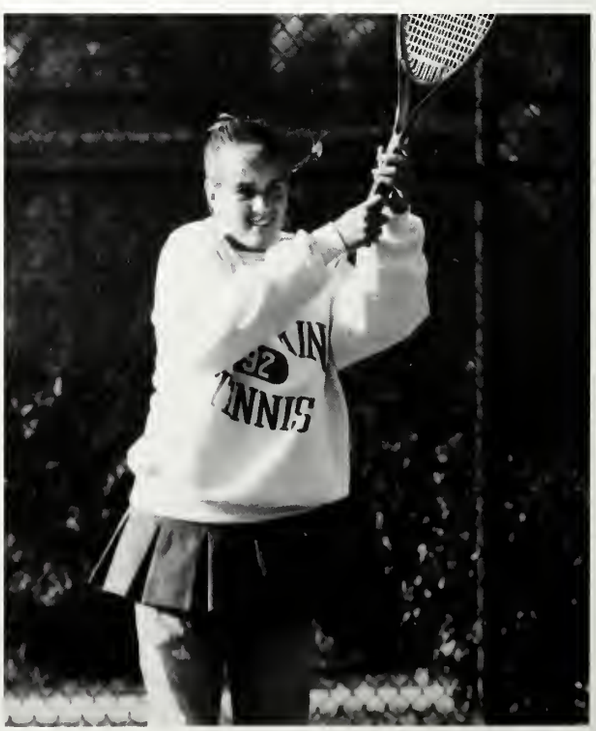
''Even though this season was a building year, we all experienced some learning blues. I hope these lessons will result in victories next season.'' Amy Chowaniak



April Martin played number 6 singles for the team this year. She is warming up here for a home meet and her concentration shows she's striving for that victory.



Allison Baker was one of a few bright spots for the team this season. She played both number 1 singles and number 1 doubles.

The Lady Blue Shine

This year's women's basketball season was full of individual success stories, but above all of these was a great wealth of team success. After being voted to finish thied in the conference in the pre-season polls, coach Lori Kerans voiced her opinion that she felt the team could finish first or second. After an eight game winning streak and a twelve and one home record, the team finished second in the conference. Overall, the team finished 19 and 6, accomplishing its goal of improving on last year's 17 and 9 record. After losing several key players from last year's team, the team faced the challenge of replacing those spots. Junior transfer Tina Ames and sophomore transfer Becky Clayton played key roles throughout the season. Jana Albrecht, Jodi Foster, and Angie Dale picked up their roles from last year and provided leadership for the young team. Angie Dale ended her collegiate career in style as she broke her own three-point field goal record of 50 treys set last season with 56 this year. With only one starter being lost to graduation (Dale), next year's team should be a strong contender for the CCIW title.

Dribbling Blues

This year's mens basketball team began the season in an exciting fashion, and with high expectations fueling the fire, they appeared almost unstoppable. The team began the season with five returning letter winners including four starters and high hopes for the new recruits. With such a young team, senior Greg Howell took on the key leadership role. After winning their first four games, their spark began to fizzle out. They lost the next three games and seven out of the next fourteen. They ended the season 13-12 and 7-7 in the CCIW. One bright spot of the season, however, was the outstanding play of the young players. Freshman Eric Smith and sophomore Allen Warner played keys roles this season. Eric Smith played center and led the team in field-goal percentage at 56% and second in rebounds to Shannon Cloyd. Allen Warner played back-up to Howell and Chris Wetzel and often times came into the game to spark the offense with his threes. He also led the team in free-throw percentage with 83.3%. Shannon Cloyd led the team in rebounds with 301 and Howell led in assists with 111. Another key player on the team was junior Brad Stieg.

With only one player graduating (Howell), the team should be set for next year. As the players begin to play more together, they will begin to play as a team instead of individuals. Although the season did not go according to plan, it was a learning experience for everyone. Next year should begin with just as much enthusiasm and as many expectations as this season.

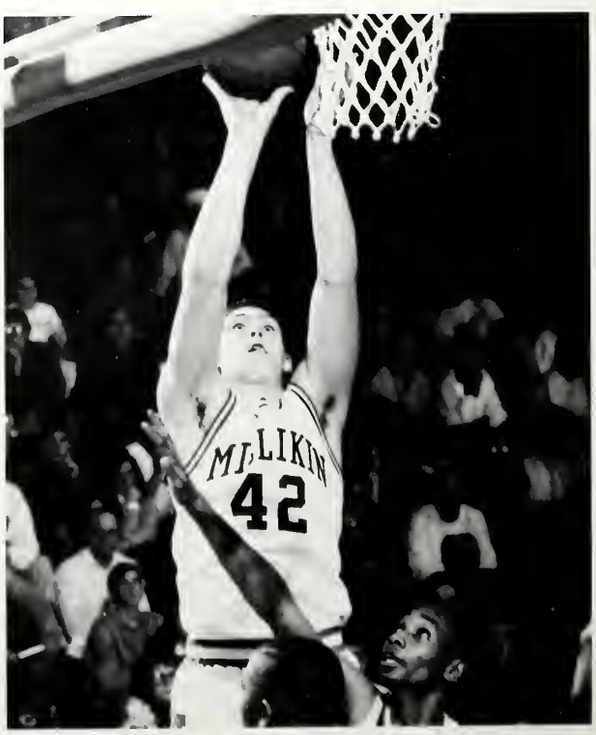
Sophomore Darno Demby and junior Brad Steig go up for a rebound against Olivet Nazarene. Demby picked up where he left off last season as a freshman. Both he and Stieg played key roles for the inside game of Millikin.



As an entering freshman and former high school teammate of Shannon Cloyd, Eric Smith adapted well to both the offense and defense. His agressive play provided him with many opportunities for short jump shots like the one he is shooting above.

In his senior year, Greg Howell provided much of the leadership for his young teammates. Just as he passes the ball off to Chris Wetzel, he will pass the reins of leadership to him next year. For his efforts this season he was elected as Millikin's male representative on the CCIW winter sports All-Academic team.

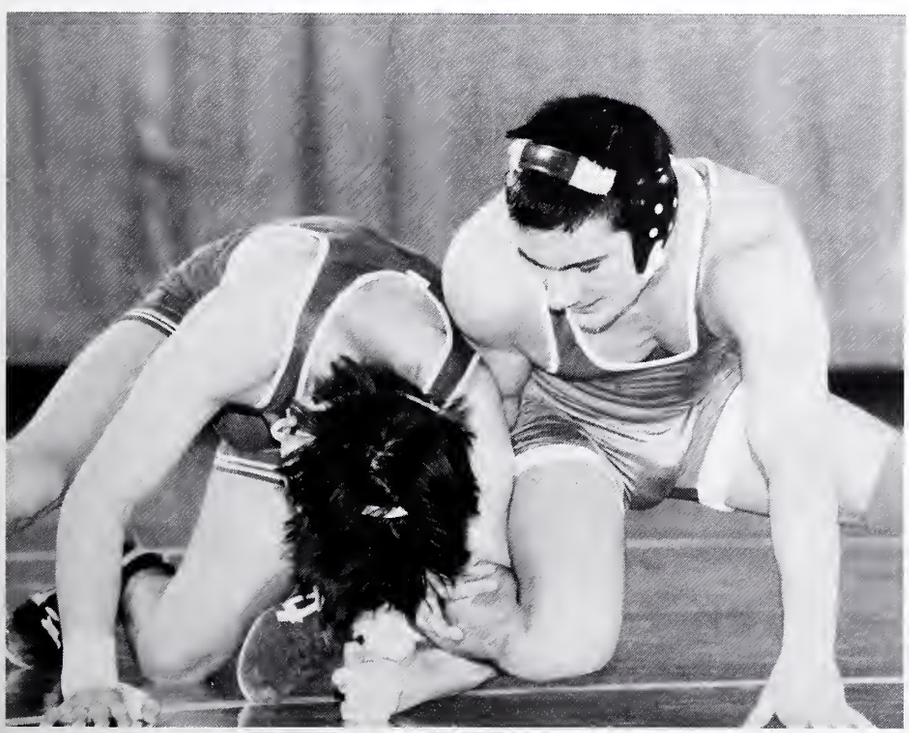
Big Blue Take Down

Most Valuable Player - Richard Harvey

Part way through the season, Coach Mike Poe stated, "They have been progressing, and that was my number one goal at the beginning of the year."

At the beginning of the season, the Millikin Wrestling team had outlooks of great hope. Seniors Richard Harvey and Mark Dowell carried the leadership roles as co-captains, and they were joined by several other returning wrestlers. Youth was not necessarily going to be a problem, except in the middle class divisions. Fortunately, this year's team did not suffer the same medical problems, and therefore were expected to perform relatively well. During the season, Richard Harvey won three of the tournaments and went on the represent Millikin in the NCAA tournament. As a team, however, the wrestlers did not perform as well as they hoped, but they still finished third in the CCIW. With a little more experience and with similar leadership styles, the wrestling team for next year should be an improvement over this year.



Junior Greg Esmerian attempts the take down of another wrestler. The Big Blue were relatively successful this year and then ended with an 11-10 record.

One of the Millikin lady swimmers makes her contribution to the team by swimming the butterfly. Although the women lost all but two of their competitions, the team saw much improvement over the season.

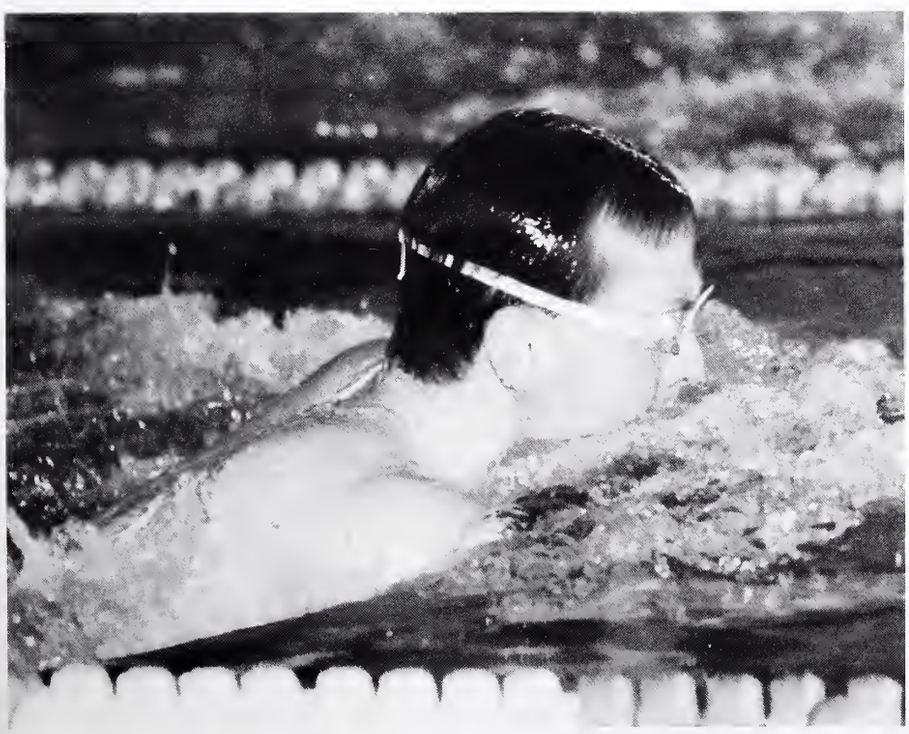
This year, the mens and womens swim teams enjoyed both team and individual success, some of which was unexpected. The men's team had a six meet winning streak to accompany their second place finish in the CCIW. The women's team was picked to finish no higher than fifth in the conference. They surprised everyone but themselves in pulling out a third place finish in the conference meet. Coach John Gadbois said of both teams: ''I've never been associated with a group of swimmers who work as hard and have as much fun doing it.'' The teams both had a good mixture of youth and experience. Ken Krause, a Senior, led the men's team along with Freshman Brad Cain who received All-American honors. Seniors Dina Carlson and Josie Christensen continued their leadership roles from last year. Although the swim teams will lose several key seniors, with many young letter winners returning from this year's team, the waters look smooth for the Big Blue next year.



Both strength and endurance powered the men's swim team to six consecutive meet victories this season. This swimmer competes in the breast stroke.

While competing in the backstroke, this swimmer appears to have left the other swimmers behind as not a ripple can be seen in the water of the other lane.

Lady Blue Sluggers

At the fall workouts in September, Coach Jim Mills knew that Millikin softball was earning a reputation. He had close to 40 girls who were competing for only twenty positions. When the winter training began he was down to thirty, but even that was a difficult situation. Everyone had a equal chance and the coaches finally narrowed it down to the twenty people they felt would give the team the best chance to get to the National Tournament. This year's tournament would be held in Decatur.

The trip to Florida was very successful including wins against Eastern Connecticut who had created problems in past years and also St. Thomas. They finished the tournament with a 5-3 record. When they returned home they faced their toughest battle yet - Mother Nature. The weather was awful and it resulted in the cancellation of many non-conference games. Despite the weather, the lady blue won their first five conference games before splitting the doubleheader against Illinois Wesleyan. After that they had a string of hard losses against both Carthage and Aurora. Then they swept a doubleheader from Augustana but then split their remaining doubleheader against North Central. In the end, their 10-4 record in the CCIW wasn't enough to capture the conference title and their hopes of national tournament play were dashed.

The team did see some impressive individual efforts by both returning players and newcomers. Freshman Wendy Hahn pitched in 10 games and won eight of them. Her efforts earned her all-conference honors. Ali Brewster, Laura Tolone, and Jana Albrecht also picked up where they left off last season and continued their leadership roles. The lady blue will only lose one senior, but it is a very important player - catcher Jen Ciaccio. She was voted MVP this year and she earned Academic All-American honors last season. Her skill as a catcher and her abilities as a leader will be missed next year as the team tries once again to reach their goal of a national tournament.

The NCAA Division III National Softball Tournament was held in Decatur this year during the weekend of May 20-23. There were six teams from across the nation all competing for the chance to be crowned number one: Allegheny, Trenton State, Rowan, University of LaVerne, Illinois Benedictine, and Central. Many volunteers, both students and staff, all helped to make the event a success. For some teams, like Trenton State (last year's champion) and Central from Iowa, this tournament was nothing new. However, it was the first time the University of LaVerne in California ever reached the tournament. The pitcher from LaVerne set an NCAA record for most strikeouts in a game with 14. There were many memorable moments from the games and the best softball ever. The only unfortunate part was that teams had to lose. The heartbreak was obvious but all the teams should be commended for their accomplishments. The final game was between Trenton State and Central. When the dust settled over Borg Warner Field a new champion had been crowned - Central.

Swinging for the Fences

Head Coach Mike Neal had one basic goal when the season began - to improve last season's record of 15-20-1. He remarked, "We have good athletes who work hard and have good attitudes. Our chance to be a conference title depends on our execution of the basics - pitchers working ahead in the count, fielders making the routine plays, and hitters delivering hits in key situations." The team elected tri-captains to fulfill the leadership roles - seniors Jim Neuman and Joel Chapman and junior Mark Coplea. The baseball team had 14 returning letter winners from last year's team and several junior varisty players returned to challenge for a spot on the Varsity team. Leadership and experience were not a problem.

The season did not begin on a positive note, however, as the team lost their first 5 games of the season during their annual Florida trip. Despite their unpleasant beginnings, the team rallied together and proved they could be contenders as they won nine of their next ten games. Unfortunately, the team just couldn't hold everything together. Other CCIW teams posed problems for the team. They finished with a conference record of 5 wins and 9 losses. The late innings seemed to aggravate the team. If they were ahead or tied after 6 innings, they were 11-3. However, when they were losing after six innings, they were only 1-17. The end result of the season was an overall record of 12-20. Despite not meeting their goal, the team still has hope for next season. They will lose 7 seniors, but, on the other hand, they have 31 players returning. Next season is a new season, and the team will once again be looking to improve.

Just Putting Around

The golf team began the with enthusiasm yet hesitant to set high expectations. The team was very young and inexperienced. After losing some important members from last year's team due to graduation, the returning golfers knew the weight of the team would be on them. The two captains and leaders, Jeff Stupp and Jeff Ruth, were both juniors. In fact, there was only one senior on the squad this year. The team also welcomed six freshmen. At the beginning of the season, Coach Temples remarked, "We have several golfers who will seriously challenge to break into our top five. We're very young, but the competitiveness I saw during fall practice should produce a team capable of challenging for the conference championship."

The season began very promising as they placed 4th of 11 at the Knox College Siwash Classic. They were only 25 strokes off the first place team of Central in Iowa. At the University of Missouri-St. Louis Riverman Invitational they were tenth but only 28 strokes behind the first place team. They found themselves in the top half of both the Millikin Intercollegiate and the Millikin-Eagle Creek Tournaments. One of the main problems was inconsistency. The top five players were rotating constantly all season. In addition, it didn't appear that anyone could put together strong games from one tournament to the next. The overall inconsistency just added pressure to each golfer that he would have to have an outstanding game and lead the team. This added pressure seem to weigh them down just enough to prevent them from winning the conference championship. They finished the season well with a third place finish at Augustana, second at Knox, and first at the Wesleyan Classic. The team finished the season by placing third at the conference championship.

Next season should be even more promising for the Big Blue Golf team. They will have all of their regulars back and an additional year of experience. Each golfer is looking forward to a better season next year.

Juniors Jeff Stupp and Jeff Ruth served the role of co-captains this year. Both were leaders for their teammates during the season. Stupp received all-conference honors for his second place finish at the conference championship.

The Blue Serve It Up

Despite losing the number one singles and doubles player to graduation, Coach McNeely still had high hopes for the season. After all, he still had four returning lettermen and four definite newcomers. The problems began early however, and they didn't seem to cease. With the number one spot open, someone would have to step up and fill the position. That individual was Rob Zanoni. Zanoni was the number two player last year when he earned all-conference honors. Zanoni has the potential to play number one but he is only a sophomore and the competition was very strong. Another problem arose when they lost one of their seniors, Mark McInerney, to injury. The team began the season in the Aurora Spartan Classic in early March. They knew it would be a difficult season when they finished last out of eight teams. As the season progressed, the scores just didn't seem to follow. After placing third in conference last year, Zanoni won only two matches all season. He was winless in all of his doubles matches. The other players found themselves in similar situations. Chris Zora, Jason Abner, and Juan Loney all played number two singles at different times during the season. Abner and Zora took turns at number three. Abner, Loney, and Raymond Anthony played number four. Number five singles was played by Anthony, Walt Elliston, and Miin Mei Looi. Looi and Corey Culp contributed their efforts playing number six singles. Juan Loney was the only other player to win a singles match. In doubles action, the team of Zora and Loney was the only victorious team, winning two matches at number two doubles. With a year of experience, and only losing one senior (Elliston), the team hopes to rebound next year.

Freshman Chris Zora made some very important contributions to the team, and he is expected to perform even better next season. Above, he is warming up before one of his matches.

Miin Wei Looi spent many hours at practice, as he is here, working on his backhand. Looi is a freshman and is also expected to make big contributions in the upcoming years.

The Blue Sprint Away

The Men's Track team finished better this year than they did last year in the Conference Meet. This was a goal at the beginning of the season. In order to accomplish this, many of the younger members would have to overcome the obstacle of inexperience and perform well in the meets. They did just that. In addition, those returning from last year had to pick up where they finished last year and improve. The highlight of the season was their first place finish of 15 teams at the Monmouth Invitational followed by their third place finish at Conference. The tri-captains for this year were Dave Peabody, Darren Pitts, and Mike Hall. The team was also plagued by the bad weather which forced the cancellation of several scheduled meets. Despite the bad weather, the team practiced hard and in the end they received twenty all-conference honors.

The Lady Blue Improve

The Lady Blue Track team had high expectations for improvement this season. One of the main reasons is that they had more members on the team this year. Coach Slagell explained her excitement for the season, "I think we have the athletes to fill every event. Five of the six people who scored for us at the conference meet last year are back, and that gives us a good foundation." Add to that foundation the talent of the newcomers and you have a reason for excitement. The tri-captains for the season were Andrea Link, Eliza Nyman, and Jody Plater. They provided solid leadership for the entire season. The team didn't perform as well as they would have liked to but some of that was due to inexperience. The women finished sixth of eight at Conference. Seven members of the team were awarded all-conference honors.

Most Millikin athletes would agree that without an Athletic Training Program, there wouldn't be an Athletic Program. Just imagine trying to play an entire football season without trainers. It would be IMPOSSIBLE! The student trainers are under the supervision of Head Trainer Scott Doberstein. They spend many hours in the training room preparing the athletes for practice, and, in addition, they attend every home game for the various sports. As a result, a lot of time is devoted by the trainers including many late nights and weekends. In addition, the training room must be accesible for athletes to receive treatment when they need it. For the athletes, the most beneficial aspects of our training staff are that they uderstand the athletes wanting to be out playing, not sitting out injured. The trainers do their best, as quickly as possible, to get the athlete back in action.

On behalf of the athletes, thank you for all your hard work, dedication, and long hours of work - your efforts are greatly appreciated.

The Grunge Blunge

Below: Amy Sullivan and Wendy Hahn volunteer to lead grunge movement on campus.

Above: Jennifer Currence teaches the rules of proper grunge dressing to the residents of Days Inn.

Styles come and go, but the typical college student doesn't seem to notice. Popular brands and fashions give way to simplicity when it comes to dressing for an eight o'clock class. To be in vogue all that's needed is your favorite sweatshirt with a pair of shorts, and PRESTO you have the model grunge look. This fashion trend can be achieved by following five simple rules:

1. Make sure that you sleep in until it's definitely too late to get properly showered and dressed.
2. Grab whatever clothing is laying closest to your bed (remember that it's not suppose to match).
3. Do a quick smell test to make sure that your deordorant was working the last time you wore the outfit (some people skip this step, but your friends will be glad that you remembered).
4. Hurriedly dress (this adds to the just ''thrown together'' look) and make sure that nothing is accidentally tucked in or unwrinkled.
5. Toss on a baseball cap and head to class.

Tri Delta's share fun in the sun at Fairview Park, another popular place for MU students to get away from their studies.

Students are always in search of a temporary relief from school and studying. Weekends give MU the proper excuse to cut loose and have some fun, but the activities are as varied as the students themselves. Here's what some people do in their free time for relaxation:

"My favorite place to go is the LightHouse, but it's always fun to just be with my friends" Greta Miller.

"I try to enjoy myself as much as possible by relaxing the entire time" Angie Fricke.

"Parties are my favorite way to spend the weekend. I work hard all week so I can go out and have a good time on the weekends" Jenny Kopinski.

Another favorite option is just being with friends as this Days Inn group demonstrates - Stefanie Lawyer, Krystle Schneffner, Jill Belcher, and Pam Drayton.

Dances are another place where MU students like Laura Contoni, Kari Ball, and Tiffany Anesi go to have fun.

Honors Convocation

April 15, 1993 was the night for the Distinguished Faculty Lecture and Honors Convocation. The Honors Convocation is an opportunity for the different colleges to awards scholarships and other awards to their top students. The Kirkland Fine Arts Center was filled with applause from family and friends of the students as they received their awards. Many parents traveled hundreds of miles to participate in this big night. The night began with the traditional academic processional of the faculty and administrators. President McCray was joined on stage by the deans of the four colleges and Richard Ferry who was the distinguished faculty lecturer. After the opening by President McCray and Dr. Ferry's address, the presentation of awards and honors began. Following the departmental awards, the university awards were presented. The Millikin Women's Assoc. Awards went to: George Adam, Angela Berra, Jennifer Boss, Julie Cardia, Dale Cordes, Dawn Doverspike, David Ferguson, Amy Hagen, Michelle Kendall, Amy Neuendorf, Carolyn Rotz, Angela Snellenberger, and Marcy Wood. Michael Hall and Rewa Smith received the Wayne Dunning Award. The Harold Bird Swimming Award went to Mark Milnes. Lorri Bates was honored with the Thomas G. Storey Citizenship Award and Christopher Lawyer received the Jere C. Mickel Human Relations Award. The Walter Witt Award went to Raquel Wilson. Stephanie Strang was awarded the Daniel J. and Elinor Gage Student Activities Award. The Alpha Lambda Delta Senior Book Awards went to Emily Dunlap, Charles Russell, and Julie Stevenson. Edward Lobenhofer received the JoAnne Trow Award. The JMS Distinguished Project Award was given to Emily Dunlap and Charles Russell. Darren Pitts received the Dr. J. Roger Miller Leadership Award. There were also eight Scovill Prizes awarded. It was truly an evening for the best and brightest of Millikin to shine.

The Distinguished Faculty Lecturer was Dr. Richard Ferry who spoke about the "Hidden Curriculm in Retrospect." Each year one faculty member is chosen by a committee to speak. Dr. Ferry joins the list of previous lecturers including Dr. Boaz, Dr. Gromoll, Dr. Forbes, Dr. Guillory, and Dr. McIntire. Before Dr. Ferry began his talk, many of the students sunk down in their seats fearing it would be another lecture they would have to sit through. Within the first minute of his address, however, he had the complete attention of everyone in the audience. His speech was extremely interesting and at some points even amusing. Dr. Ferry took a very light-hearted approach but he presented his serious ideas in a clear manner. By the end of his address he was presented with an auditorium of people applauding and on their feet. Everyone walked away from his talk with new ideas of what they were learning.

Although they are not recognized formally during the evening, the students who have achieved high academic standing and are initiated into different Honoraries are listed in the program. This year 75 seniors were awarded Senior Certificates from Alpha Lambda Delta for maintaining a 3.5 grade point average for four years. Alpha Lambda Delta also initiated 131 freshmen and sophomores to the honorary who earned above a 3.5 gpa during either their first or second semester of college. Omicron Delta Kappa, the leadership honorary, has a current membership of 35 students. Pi Kappa Lambda, which recognizes academic excellence combined with that of musicianship, initiated 18 members this year. Phi Kappa Phi is the honorary for juniors in the upper five percent of their class and senior in the top ten percent. This year they initiated 16 new members which brings the total members this year to 55. Also listed were the 46 students who were recognized in the 1992-93 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

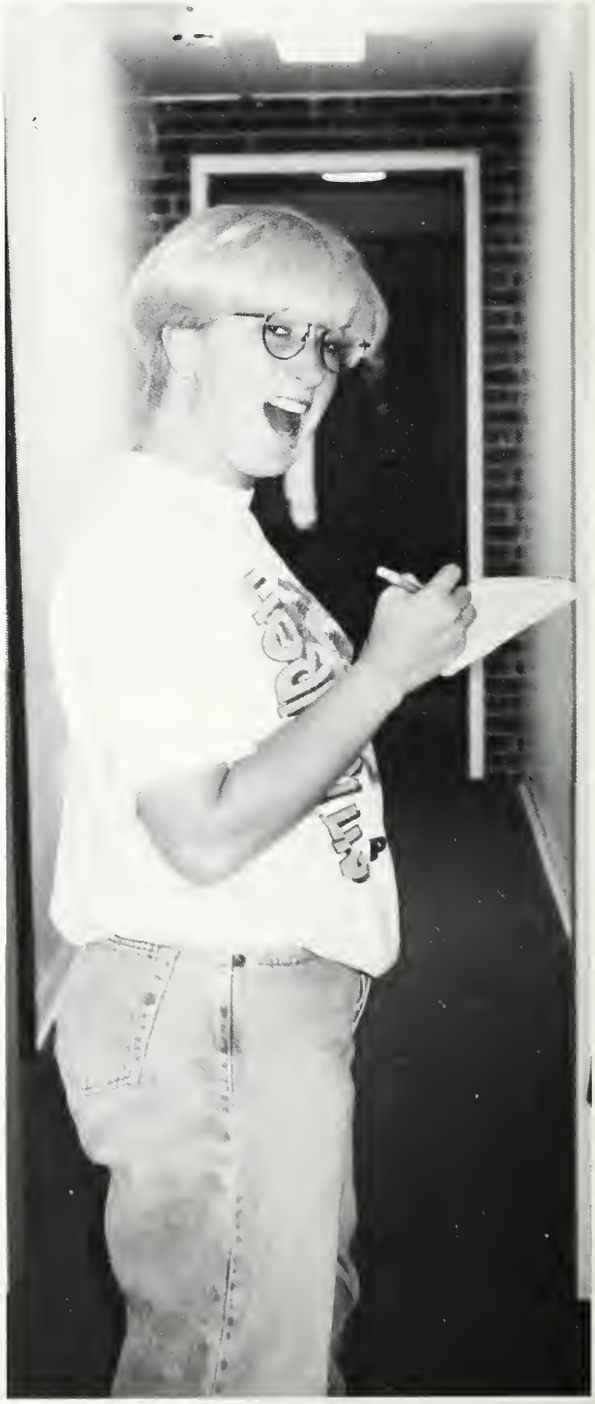
The Moving Blues

Finals are over!!! Uh oh, you told your parents to pick you up in less than an hour and you just started to pack. Boxes, where are all those boxes you picked up behind RTUC? You look over and your roommate has his/her stuff all packed in it. Finally, after looking around the halls you find some extra boxes. You had told yourself three days ago that you were going to begin packing, but time seemed to disappear so now you resort to simply stuffing things in boxes. As the majority of your things are packed away, you begin finding items you thought you lost months ago. Your room begins to look less like your home and more like a dorm room. As your parents call from downstairs, you finish stuffing the last of your things in a garbage bag. Now comes the fun part, carrying everything down the stairs and then trying to fit it all in the car. As your parents finish arranging everything, you check the room one last time, check out of the hall, and then have to say good-bye to your friends until you see them in August.



Above: Shannon Sapp adds her name and address to Diane Stedman's address book. Will they every write to each other? Who knows, but it is part of the "end-of-the-year tradition." Left: It is the endless wait. Your have everthing neatly packed and ready to go, but then your parents are late.

SUMMER IS HERE!!!

Baccalaureate

The Baccalaureate service is the religious aspect of the entire commencement activities. The service began at 10:00 a.m. with the Academic Procession of both graduates and faculty. The graduates were led by Student Marshalls, Chris Lawyer and Katie Durham while the Faculty Marshalls were Stephen Fiol and Lawrence Lovell-Troy. The University Choir also participated in the service. The Baccalaureate address, "Your Next Assignment," was given by Rev. Verne Sindlinger. In his address he inspired the graduates to find their next goal and the next dream and pursue it. The graduates and audience members were inspired by his words as they were applicable to all and not just the graduates. The audience also participated in the service by signing two hymns. President McCray presided over the service.

The Reverend Verne E. Sindlinger, a Synod Executive from the Synod of Lincoln Trails Presbyterian Church, gave the Baccalaureate address entitled "Your Next Assignment."

After Baccalaureate, families and friends gathered in front and behind Kirkland Fine Arts Center to wait for the graduates. It would be only a few short hours before the graduates would be ending one chapter of their lives and begin another.

People were taking pictures everywhere you went. It would be one last chance to get pictures with all their friends. In addition to taking pictures, the graduates were giving family members and friends tours of the campus. Overall, the time between Baccalaureate and Commencement, however it was spent, was a special time for everyone.

The Class of 1993

In between the Baccalaureate service and the Commencement ceremony, graduates, parents, and friends gather in the lower level of Richard Treat University Center for a reception. There was plenty of food and beverages for everyone. The reception was a great time for the graduates to say good-bye to faculty members and also introduce their parents to both faculty and friends. By about 12:30 p.m. people began heading toward Fairview Park. The Commencement ceremony would begin at 2:00 p.m., in less than 2 hours, but for the graduates it seemed like a lifetime. While people found their seats and looked for the best camera angle, the graduates began to line up followed by the faculty. Then, according to tradition, the processional began with the first graduates walking in between the two lines of graduates and faculty so they could see all their friends one last time as students. The moment they had waited for and looked forward to was here. There were tears of joy and tears of anxiety in the eyes of both parents and graduates. It was a day that will always be remembered.

Top: Todd Hart spends time with his parents and his sister-in-law after Baccalaureate. Scenes like this were present all over campus. Above: Family and friends enjoyed the reception in RTUC preceding the Commencement ceremony.

This year's graduating class consisted of people of various ages. No matter what the age, the excitement and feeling of satisfaction was obvious in all the graduates' eyes.

Jodi Benson prepares for her graduation. In addition to graduating, she sang a solo with the University Choir. Jodi Benson was the voice of Ariel in "The Little Mermaid."

The rush was on to find the perfect seat which, of course, had the perfect angle to take pictures of their graduate. The pavilion seats about 1700 people and there wasn't a spare seat. The people under the pavilion escaped the rain during the ceremnony.

Before they had to begin lining up, several graduates took one last look around the park and tried to observe everything they could. They wanted the memory to last. Mark McInerney, Jody Plater, and Deborah Kwasney head back up the hill to the pavilion were they would line up.

Commencement 1993

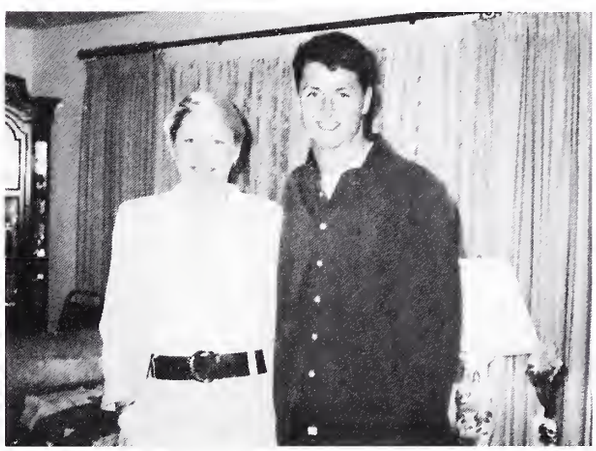
The weather appeared to cooperate nicely. Before the ceremony the sun was breaking through the clouds and the skies momentarily began to clear. However, shortly into the ceremony, the rain began. Those people who were not seated under the pavilion grapped their umbrellas and tried to push their way as close to the pavilion as possible. The ceremony continued as scheduled. Dr. Martin gave his address and President McCray went through the investiture service as the eleventh president of Millikin. After the recognition of the retiring members of the Board of Trustees, the graduates were anxious. The only thing seperating them from their diplomas was the recognition of service awards. When that was finished, the conferring of degrees began. The reactions of the graduates varied. Some walked off with big smiles, for others it was a satisfied look, but for most it was a sense of relief. Their goal was accomplished. The family and friends in the audience were definitely not a quiet one. There were cheers, clapping, horns, and anything else with every name that was announced. Once all had received their degrees, Lorri Bates, Senior Class Chair, led the graduates in the changing of the tassel. As the Benediction was given by Chaplain Yonan, the sun peeked through again. The recessional began, as did the tears. The overall joy of finally graduating seemed to be momentarily set aside as friends had to say good-bye. The Class of 1993 should be congratulated on their accomplishments!

Top: Katie Durham and Chris Lawyer were the Student Marshalls this year. They are shown above leading the graduates into the ceremony. Above: Dr. Dan Martin gave the Commencement Address entitled "A Sense of Place." Dr. Martin received an Honorary Degree (Doctor of Humane Letters) from Millikin.

After the ceremony, Katie Durham congratulated one of her friends. The weather cleared just in time for family and friends to gather around and celebrate the accomplishments of their graduate.

Below: Scott Doberstein, standing in the middle, is surrounded by the graduating athletic trainers: Jody Plater, Theresa Smith, Deborah Kwasney, Brian Schroeder, Chad Hopkins. Far below: The hunt was on as the ceremonies ended, with everyone gathered, it was difficult to find who you were looking for.

Below: Families attempt to find each other. Far below: After all was finished, Janice Kelly and her nephew Mark McInerney had a chance to celebrate their graduation. Both graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Accounting.



A New Chapter

The smiles were obvious
The excitement pierced the clouds
Family and friends cheered
As the names were announced.

With your diploma in hand
You marched back to your seat
Among your friends you sat
For one last time together.

As you marched out
The sun peaked through the clouds
And the only water seen
Was tears in people's eyes.

Everything you worked for
Was inyour hands
And all the friendships made
Were in your hearts.

Saying good-bye was hard -
Worse than you thought it would be
Both faculty and fellow graduates
Would be going their own ways.

The Class of 1993 is now gone
No one else can be the same
As those before you were different
So will those after you be.

Remember as you look to your futures
That you should never forget
Where you've been or
Who got you there.

A New Blue

The 1992-93 school year has been filled with changes and new events. The Millikin Big Blue was finding itself as a different person than when the students left in May of 1992. There were more freshman and transfer students deciding to attend Millikin than were planned for which resulted in some students having to live in the Days Inn for the first semester. Then in September, the campus suffered the loss of its President. About one month later the Provost notified the Administration that he was taking a job at a college in Texas. The search for a new president began in a hurry. By February, Millikin's next president was named - Dr. Curtis McCray. On February 8th several Millikin students were shot at an off-campus party. This incident sparked safety concerns that were not raised before. In March, Mr. David Marshall announced his retirement from his current work with planned giving, and in April, the Director of Dining Services resigned. Also retiring at the end of this year is the Dean of Admissions, Mr. James Kettlekamp.

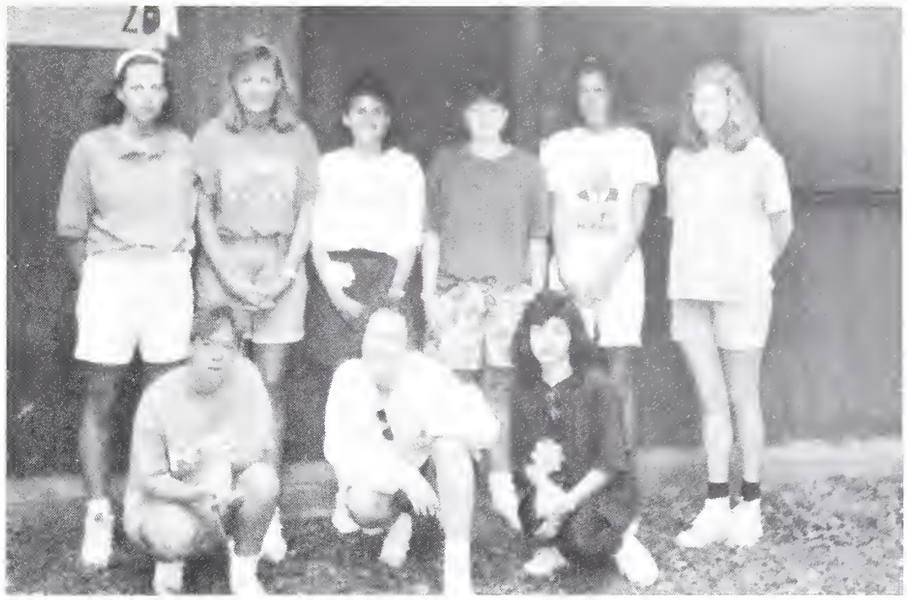
So what do all these changes mean? Is it simply that life is never the same from year to year? Of course that has something to do with it, but it is much more. The ''Big Blue from Millikin U.'' is not the same school it was just five years ago nor will it ever be the same as it is today. Each new faculty, staff, or administration member and every new student brings something unique to the campus. We have moved out of the ''old blue'' from last year and into the ''new blue.'' As this year comes to a close, we must look back to see only where we came from. You can't linger too long on the past but instead you must look into the future. That future has a new you - not the current you. It is only what you do from this moment forward that truly matters. We must start with where we are at now and build on - on to a ''New Blue.''

The friendships made here at Millikin are meant to last. Scott Pinkowski, Pam Bailey, Melissa Pursley, Amy Stelter, Becky Schuler, Ryan Burkhalter, and Aaron Shane used this Christmas holiday as a time to gather together and celebrate their friendships.

Sophomore Colette Copple relaxes on her bed and shows off her new Ren and Stimpy dolls to her friends. These two characters became very popular this year, especially in Hessler Hall.

Students will find almost anything to do so they don't have to study. Dixie Sattley wanted to see how many braids she could put in her hair.

Freshman Happi Holmes learned quickly that birthday surprises are different when you're at college. Her friends decided to toilet paper her entire room and then when she was staring in amazement, they wrapped her up in toilet paper too.



Above: Millicamp was a great time for new students to get to know some of the faculty and the upperclassmen. Of course, the most important part was the friendships that developed over the weekend. Below: Chad Vaughn, Randy St. Peters, and Emily Burks spent time together while living at the Days Inn. Bottom: Hessler Hall's RA staff Emily Dunlap, Kristin Mikkelson, Dave Stuckey, Ronnie Cloyd, and Hall Director Bruce Halbmaier find time to pose for the camera.

Sophomore Pam Bailey talks to her mother on the phone. "Mom, should I change majors and jsut do commercials for a living?"

During the school sponsored trip to Russia, Zal Irani, Chad Probst, and Scott Hofferkamp show they can keep themselves occupied during long train rides.

"I asked you to leave three times," said Aaron Shane, "but you didn't. I guess I'll have to take action." These were Aaron's last words as he picked up Ryan Burkhalter.

MILLIDEK
1992 - 1993

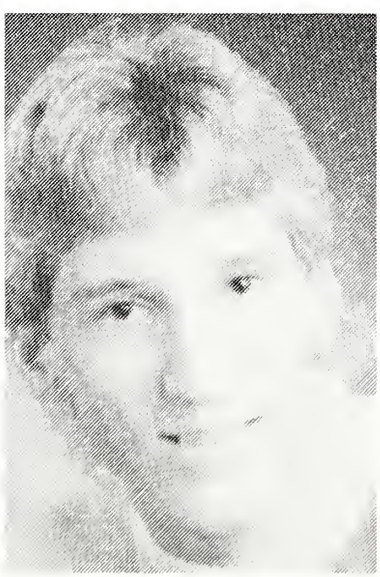
The Editor's Letter

The 1992-93 school year has been exciting and challenging for me as Editor-in-Chief of the Millidek. Over the past years, the Millidek never really had a staff. This year's big challenge was to develop a staff. Although the enthusiasm dwindled as time went on, there were still some people who were very dedicated. I want to thank them personally for all their hard work. Miin Wei Looi and Kim Aughenbaugh both made significant contributions to the yearbook and it was usually under a great deal of pressure. Both were always willing to help with anything they could. That type of dedication is what made this yearbook better than in past years. There are two other people I want to personally thank for their time and support and they are the advisor Rich Dunsworth and the woman behind the scenes Pat Sleade. Without all the work she does organizing plans and solving last minute emergencies, the yearbook couldn't get done. Rich was always there in his normal calm manner when any problem should arise. Both of these people have taught me a great deal about what it means to enjoy what you are doing. Bob Donnelly is our Herff Jones Representative who was also very crucial to the success of the book.

I hope everyone enjoys this year's yearbook. The yearbook is designed to be a keepsake item which you can pick up in 20 years and have the memories come back to you. This year's theme is meant to be a symbol of hope for the future. Soon everyone will be graduating and leaving campus and I hope that as you go "Out of the Blue" at Millikin, that you never forget what you learned while you were here.

Best Wishes,
Amy M. Neuendorf
Editor-in-Chief

In Memory Of



"Friends are friends forever,
If the Lord's the Lord of them.
And a friend will not say never,
Cause the welcome will not end.
Though it's hard to let you go,
In the father's hands we know,
That a lifetime's not too long -
To live as Friends."
Michael W. Smith "Friends"

This past year has brought about the tragic loss of two Millikin family members. Former President John R. Miltner died on September 6, 1992, after a short illness. The campus was saddened by his loss. He was Millikin's President for shortly over one year, and he had such great plans for improvement. The entire campus will miss his friendly smile and great intellect.

On April 16, 1993, Millikin's campus was once again saddened by the loss of one of its students. Jeff Watson died on that Friday morning after a five year battle with leukemia. He will be missed by his wife (Polly) and family, and all those who were touched by his enthusiasm, inspirational thoughts and his courage.

President John R. Miltner gave his first and only Homecoming speech in October 1991. The faculty, staff, administration, and students will all miss him and his wonderful wife and family.
